

HEADS UP!

A Weekly Update from Lyons Early Childhood School

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

Dear Parents and Carers,

It has been a pleasure to watch the students of Coinda engage in such authentic learning experiences around COMMUNITY this week. Their learning has developed understandings about the outside community and this week they have worked to bring the community inside our gates by working on our school gardens. They have deepened their learning around sustainability as well as biodiversity. It's a privilege to witness such rich learning and engagement, as well as care for our school environment. Congratulations Coinda students and staff. Thank you to the many families who donated plants.

A big thank you to our P & C for their fundraising efforts at tomorrow's election and to the many families who have supported the day by volunteering at the sausage sizzle, cake stall and by baking cakes and biscuits to sell. I would also like to acknowledge the members of the LECS School Board whom I met for the first time on Wednesday. The commitment of both organisations to build community and wellbeing across our school helps to make LECS a special place to be each day.

Over the next week, a number of notes will be coming home. This will help us to ensure that we have up to date contact details and medical information for all students. There will also be reminder notices for Family Contributions and Stationery Contributions.

Our class teachers have been reminding children about not climbing or swinging on gates at school. It is important that our gates are opening and closing as they should in order to keep everyone safe. We thank you for your support in reminding your children not to do this.

Thank you to Aimee for organising our Scholastic Book Fair. It is open until next Friday. There are some wonderful books for purchase and the school receives library books from the proceeds of the fair.

Students and staff will be participating the Sorry Day Bridge Walk on Friday 24 May. Please ensure permission notes and medical forms are returned. The school is covering the cost of this 'out of gate' event. All families are welcome to join us.

Have a fabulous weekend. Do come along and enjoy a democracy sausage at LECS tomorrow!
